Wednesday

October 29, 2014

at Southwestern

Community College
Tech 1 Building, Room 103
1501 Townline Street
Creston, Iowa 50801

Times for both:

10:30 a.m. - 2 p.m.

A convenient boiler maintenance workshop for school facilities managers addressing:

- 1) Preventative maintenance
- 2) Efficiency, traps and daily boiler room checks
- 3) Planned replacement vs. planned repair

Learn to save energy, time, and budget dollars. Network and learn from experts and colleagues, and participate in an optional site energy tour. Recognition certificates will be awarded for participation.

COST: Free for school districts who are members of Energy Association of Iowa Schools (EAIS). Just $25 per person for non-members, which will be invoiced after registration. Lunch is included.

TO REGISTER: Register online at energyais.org by Friday, October 17, 2014. Each site has a limit of 20 participants, so be sure to sign up today and invite your regional colleagues to also attend!

PRESENTERS:

Steve Cornwell, C.H. McGuiness Company

Steve has worked in the boiler business since 1980. The C.H. McGuiness Company has been serving the State of Iowa for over 50 years. When it comes to commercial/industrial heating equipment and service, Steve brings years of experience on many different types of boiler systems to the classroom.

Kelly Needles, Energy Association of Iowa Schools & The Energy Group

Kelly has worked in energy project development and efficiency services in Iowa for over 25 years. He has been involved with over 600 projects, including countless boiler systems. Kelly is executive vice president of The Energy Group, the independently-owned firm hired by EAIS to provide energy management consultation
